

The Capacity Extension Program of NuCara Staffing Services is currently seeking applicants to fill an open Regional Health Specialist position. These positions provide academic detailing to support evidence-based interventions that improve HIV, STI, and hepatitis-related health outcomes in Iowa. This particular position will have a special focus on health equity and cultural competency training for professionals who serve Latinx and African American communities. The successful applicant will work from an off-site location or from an approved home office. Preference may be given to applicants who live in north central Iowa. The complete job description is available on Indeed and the position will remain open until it is filled.